Message from Director

Rev. Dr. Fr. Mathew Vattaathara CMI

“Let there be no day in your life in which you did no good to others” by Saint Kuriakose Elias Chavara is one of the main values in which Rajagiri outREACH believes in. Rajagiri outREACH has played a pivotal role in bringing positive changes in the community this year. The onset of the COVID – 19 Pandemic has brought much chaos but we believe that we shall tackle this situation too professionally. We have successfully reached out to the needy children, empowered both men and women, worked with youth for a promising tomorrow, held the hands of the elderly and have been the support system for the vulnerable groups. We acknowledge the immense appreciation received from the community and the Government for our humble efforts in creating an opportunity for the overall development of the community. We extend our gratitude to the various Government bodies, partners, funding organizations, corporate sector and beneficiaries for the enormous support extended during the year 2019 – 2020 as we look forward to a better and brighter tomorrow.

Message from CEO

Dr. Binoy Joseph

The initial phases of the COVID – 19 Pandemic has placed much responsibility in the hands of Rajagiri outREACH. We have been able to play a crucial role in the process of mobilizing resources, extending psycho-social support and rehabilitation of vulnerable population. It has been yet another successful year in the history of the organization in terms of effective implementation of programmes, development of a sense of solidarity, inculcation of humanistic values, expansion of service delivery and promotion of community action. We are confident that Rajagiri outREACH will continue to accomplish great feats in the years to come. Annual reports encourage fellow colleagues to actively participate in corporate and social welfare of the organization. Such collaborative efforts enhance the morale of the staff. This annual report is a value addition in our collective intellectual journey. In this journey towards excellence in social service to the needy community, we thank our Partners for the enormous support extended to us as we present the Annual Report of Rajagiri outREACH, the professional service wing of Rajagiri College of Social Sciences, Kalamassery for the year 2019 – 2020.

CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

India is the first country in the world to make CSR mandatory (Company Act, 2013) and as a part of CSR, businesses can invest their profit in areas, such as education, poverty, gender equality and hunger. According to schedule VII of the company act advocates those companies with a network of 4.96 billion or more or annual turnover of 9.92 billion. During a financial year shall designate 2% average net profit of 3 years towards CSR. It was mandatory for the companies to disclose their CSR spending to share holders. It is also mandatory that they should have at least one female member in the company board.

CSR covers the entire process through which an organisation approaches, defines and develops its relationships with stakeholders for the common good, and demonstrates its commitment by adopting appropriate strategies and projects. 5.A. CHILD SPONSORED PROGRAMMES

Child Sponsorship is a process of support given to a child to enable the child to achieve the maximum of their potential despite the lack of advantages. These may be in terms of social, economic or other obstacles to the development of the child. The process is continued till the child becomes self-sufficient. This could mean financially supporting the education, personality, socialization, health or security of the sponsored child or in some cases all of these. This could also mean contributing more widely to the child's community developing and indirectly helping an individual child. However an important feature of the child development programme is that it is ensured that the child continues to stay with his / her family of any sort (either with parents or other relatives or in foster care) and is NEVER institutionalized. Development programme reaches out to deserving children by providing them with the means for a better future.

At CHILDLINE, we follow an action process which starts at the first call and continues till the child in need of care and protection is safely rehabilitated. To put it simply, our work includes several stages which are:

1. Call 1098 – Any child or a concerned adult can dial the CHILDLINE 1098 helpline, which operates night and day.
2. Connected to CHILDLINE Centre – The call is received by the CHILDLINE Centre where details about the situation are taken from the caller and CHILDLINE units are mobilized, if necessary.
3. Rescue in 60 minutes – Once CHILDLINE has enough details about child or children in distress, the CHILDLINE team rushes to help children within 60 minutes to bring children out of an emergency situation.
4. Intervention – Once CHILDLINE intervenes to help the child, it works with multiple stakeholders such as police authorities, child protection boards, social workers and counselors. Children's consent and participation is an important component of this process from response to intervention.
5. Rehabilitation and Follow-Up – After the interventions, to ensure the child's continued safety, CHILDLINE proceeds to find long-term rehabilitation for the child. For this, the CHILDLINE team does constant follow-ups with the child – meeting the family or visiting the shelter if a child has been assigned to stay in one.

xx. Success Story – Women Entrepreneurship Sponsored by K.P. Paul Foundation

Mini Stephen, 35

Business: Tailoring and Stationery Shop

Mini was a young mother who had completed some tailoring and stitching lessons and was helping to support her family doing small in-home tailoring. But things in Mini's home life were less than ideal and without assistance from her husband, Mini was struggling to support her two children on her own. She heard about the KP Paul Foundation's Loan Program through a friend and former beneficiary. Mini's friend had taken out a loan through KP Paul and had started a tailoring business that was successful. With the encouragement from her friend, Mini Stephens also joined the KP Paul Program and got a loan for Rs.50,000/- to open her own tailoring shop.

Mini invested her loan money in dress materials but soon discovered that her shop would be more profitable if she also expanded to selling other goods as well. She used some of her loan to invest in stationery items and stocked her shop with useful items for her community. As the shop grew, she used her earnings to expand the store's supplies to meet the demands of her customers and also invested in some readymade textiles.

The process of running a business has not been easy for Mini. The rainy season is often slow as members of her community work less and therefore have less disposable income to spend. Additionally, big stores are able to offer discounts and have big sales during this time, and Mini loses business. She also has some personal challenges that have made starting and maintaining the business difficult. Mini has struggled with illness and has often had to close her shop to rest and recover. She sometimes employed a community member to help run the shop during these times. Mini's struggles at home with her husband made for additional challenges with running her shop.

Ms. Mini's Entrepreneurship engaged in Tailoring and Stationery Shop

Despite the several challenges Mini faced, she has never given up, and because of her strong will, Mini's business continues to support her family. She is able to pay for her children's educational expenses and her mother has moved in with her to help with the children and when Mini is ill. Mini has also used her extra income to pay the legal fees for her divorce. The independence that Mini gained from running her shop gave her the financial means, and the confidence and will to leave a bad relationship. She now has the confidence to advocate for herself and for her children. She has also purchased a 2-wheeler that helps her to be more independent in her ability to move around her community, build relationships with customers, and network with other shops and distributors.

Mini's family has been supportive of her business and personal choices and the community created with the other women in the KP Paul program has also aided Mini in growing in her confidence. She enjoys the trainings provided by Rajagiri outREACH as they allow her some social time with peers as well as improving her business skills. Mini's natural strength and perseverance and the success she has achieved in her business and personal life are a testament to the KP Paul Program and the women it serves.

Koval clubs to keep youngsters from bad company

Project initiated by District Child Protection Unit aims to integrate adolescents in conflict with law into mainstream society

M.P. PRAYER:
In a novel initiative aimed at shielding children from vulnerable backgrounds from going astray, the District Child Protection Unit (DCPU) has started forming clubs for a meaningful engagement of adolescent boys and girls while building a community support system for them.

The first such club, the first of its kind anywhere in the State, set up at Amrikaddearam Colony in Ambalamedu more than two months ago, now has 25 members. The initiative is being implemented under Kaval, a project of the Department of Women and Child Development for the integration of children in conflict with law into mainstream society.

"We are planning to set up four more clubs in colonies where children were found to be particularly vulnerable based on a verification done under Kaval, Azhimala Colony at Palarov, Udaya Colony at Kadavanchal, Fishermen Colony at Fort Kochi, and Kaverimala Colony at Kakkad, which will have similar clubs shortly," Mithula Vincent, legal cum-protection officer (DCPU), told The Hindu.

The clubs are being set up with the participation of the community, including Kadamashree members, social and political activists, and enforcement agencies such as the police and Excise. The concept was borne out of the realisation that Many vacant houses in Amrikaddearam Colony were in danger of being turned into hubs of substance abusers and anti-social elements when we decided to intervene and wean away youngsters into more meaningful things.

Successful social integration of children in conflict with law would not be possible without the active and responsible involvement of their immediate community.

Rajagiri Outreach, one of the two NGOs associated with Kaval, was instrumental in forming the first club at Ambalamedu. "Many vacant houses in Amrikaddearam Colony were in danger of being turned into hubs of substance abusers and anti-social elements when we decided to intervene and wean away youngsters into more meaningful things. Initially, we conducted a self-defence session for adolescent girls in the area with the support of the police. Later, we used in adolescent boys by offering the opportunity of playing football and distributed sports kits," said Sajo, coordinator of Kaval, Rajagiri Outreach.

Now, the club members meet on all Sundays whenever possible, and at least a programme is organised for them in a month. For instance, they were recently imparted skill development training under the Deen Dayal Upadhyaya Gramin Kaushalya Yojana. With the inclusion of the colony under the State government's LIFE Mission project for the homeless, the families may be moved out temporarily. "But we have ensured that weekly meetings and programmes will continue unhindered notwithstanding that," said Mr. Sajo.

Koval Weather: High 24, Low 21, Partly cloudy, Wind 10-15 kmph.

Koval Today: 32°C Chances of a few spells of rain in the day. Light breeze or expected. A cloudy day is expected to persist.

Koval Tomorrow: 31°C Chances of moderate rain in patches. A comfortable evening and afternoon. Sky will be cloudy.

HCL organises symposium for capacity building of NGOs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Kochi

HCL Foundation, the CSR arm of HCL Technologies, will partner with NGOs in Kerala to implement projects to mitigate the threat posed by non-communicable diseases, combat climate change, conserve nature, improve educational facilities, and promote skill development to improve job opportunities, Foundation Director Nidhi Pandhir told journalists here on Friday.

Nidhi, who arrived in Kochi to participate in a symposium on capacity building of NGOs at the Rajagiri College of Social Sciences, Kalamassery, said the Foundation had spent ₹1 crore for food relief activities in Kerala. The projects were implemented in the districts of Wayanad, Idukki and Alappuzha.

"HCL has one of the biggest CSR grants of ₹16.5 crore, which is being used to implement innovative development

The symposiums are held to create awareness among the NGOs on achieving sustainable development goals.

Nidhi Pandhir, HCL Foundation director projects in the fields of Education, Health and Environment. The HCL Grant is awarded to nine select NGOs of which three major winners will implement five-year projects worth ₹5 crore in Education, Healthcare and Environment sectors. Other NGOs will get grant worth ₹25 lakh," she said.

Apart from helping the NGOs to implement innovative projects, the foundation creates a compendium of good non-profit organisations and introduces them to corporate houses that are looking for reliable NGOs to implement their projects, said Nidhi. "The symposiums are held to create awareness among the NGOs on achieving sustainable development goals. They will get an opportunity to interact with NGOs which won the HCL grant in the previous year. It offers a platform to share their experience and help them avail of CSR fund," she said.

The NGOs applying for HCL grant in education and health should have ten years' experience in implementing big projects. They should have implemented projects worth ₹15 crore in the three previous financial years.

NGOs applying for grant in the environment sector should have implemented projects worth ₹50 lakh in the past three years. The foundation has an auditing section which will ensure that the projects are implemented in a transparent manner and the NGO has accountability said Nidhi. A board of 16 experts will check the applications and shortlist the NGOs.
